13. How do the referral program commissions work?

The commission structure and terms may vary depending on the agreement and terms between UltaHost and the referral partner. Additionally, UltaHost might have updated its commission structure or terms.

- One-Time Commission: Partners may receive a one-time commission for each client they refer to UltaHost who signs up for a hosting plan. The commission is typically a percentage of the initial sale or a fixed amount.
- Recurring Commission: Some partner programs offer recurring commissions, where agencies earn a percentage of the revenue generated from the referred clients' ongoing hosting fees. This type of commission is paid for the duration of the client's subscription.
- Tiered Commission: UltaHost might have a tiered commission system based on the number of clients an agency refers or the total revenue generated from their referrals. As the agency refers more clients or generates higher revenue, they may qualify for higher commission rates.
- Performance-Based Commission: In some cases, commissions might be based on specific performance metrics, such as the number of sign-ups within a specific time frame or the overall sales volume generated by the partner's referrals.
- Bonus or Incentive Programs: Some partner programs may include bonus or incentive programs, offering additional rewards for achieving certain milestones or meeting specific targets.
